About Hercules Pharmaceuticals

- Hercules Pharmaceuticals is a privately held American corporation focused on supplying the US healthcare market with high quality generic medicines and medical devices. We constantly seek to discover better approaches to all facets of the healthcare supply chain in which we participate. Our mission, to establish new relationships with quality partners, has been and continues to be our priority.
- Our advantage in the marketplace is our ability to move self-sufficiently through the dynamic market.
- As a private entity we do not depend on market fluctuation or pressure to create dividends to create value in our company. Rather, we are challenged to craft our own worth and do so by means of our scrupulous corporate culture and strategic business alliances.
- We measure our business both by the value we obtain, and the value our business partners and customers obtain through our alliances and services.

Distribution

- Hercules Pharmaceuticals has a strategic and efficient distribution network to enable quality medical products to succeed in the United States market.
- Our distribution centers are staffed by qualified personnel who coordinate targeted shipments across the nation.
- Hercules Pharmaceuticals evaluates, designs, and applies innovative solutions with an eye toward economies of scale, timeliness, and reliability.
- Our commitment to excellence in the healthcare industry drives the perpetual optimization of our distribution network, which in turn enables us to provide exceptional service to all of our business partners.

Compliance

- Hercules Pharmaceuticals designed the Gatekeeper™ Compliance Program which amplifies imposed legal and regulatory requirements.
- Hercules Gatekeeper™ Compliance Program assures buyers that internationally sourced generics continually meet and surpasss FDA Standards.
- Where compliance is a strength, buyers rest assured™.

Business Distinction

- Hercules Pharmaceuticals works diligently to match our distribution expertise with product ingenuity to get medication and medical devices into the supply chain.
- We carefully choose business partners with whom we can have long term relationships, which everyone may rely upon.
- We foster and protect our partners' interests because building mutually beneficial business relationships is part of our corporate culture.
- We believe that in order for a business venture to generate the greatest benefit, each party involved must derive value from the transaction.
- Our decades of experience working with international partners from Europe, Middle East, Asia, and South America has fortified our ability and fashioned our expertise.
- Hercules Pharmaceuticals pays a great deal of attention to all of our business relationships from our international partners to our U.S. distribution team because our success depends on the success of everyone involved.
